Communications towers opposed by residents

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Sprint and AT&T communications companies have hit a snag in their plans to provide cellular telephone service in Granite City.

The city's Planning and Zoning Commission voted Thursday night to recommend denying the companies' permits to build communications towers in commercially-zoned districts.

The Planning and Zoning Commission is an advisory body. The City Council will take up the issue April 22, Zoning Administrator Glen Hollis said.

Sprint had applied for a permit to build a 100-foot tower behind the bingo hall off of Fehling Road on property zoned C-5 (commercial).

AT&T applied for a permit to erect a 120-foot tower on property off Maryville Road near Terminal Avenue. That property is zoned C-4.

Both companies said they needed the respective sites to complete a network of towers to relay cellular telephone signals.

Earlier this year, the Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended that such towers be allowed only in industrial districts. But last month, after more than two months of wrestling with the issue, the City Council voted to allow the towers in C-4 and C-5 districts with a special use permit under certain conditions.

Ameritech and Southwestern Bell, the two existing cellular service providers, each erected towers in C-4 and C-5 zones, but that was before the zoning ordinance addressed telecommunications towers. They were "grandfathered" when the new ordinance was adopted last month.

Sprint and AT&T have argued that allowing the Ameritech and Southwestern Bell towers in commercial districts but denying others is illegal because it creates an unfair advantage for the existing providers and excludes competition.

But the Planning and Zoning (See TOWERS, Page 6A)

Nearing completion — The central grandstand, which will hold 25,000 spectators, and the tower, which will hold corporate suites, sit almost completed along the back straightaway at Gateway International Raceway. In the foreground is additional grandstand seating; additional grandstands being built will bring the seating up to 50,000. Paving on the track began early last week. Police seek man in abduction

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City police are looking for a middle-aged man who allegedly abducted a 17-year-old girl off the street Thursday night and tried to molest her.

The girl told police she was walking near the intersection of Niedringhaus and Grand avenues at about 11 p.m. Thursday when a man grabbed her, pulled her into his newer model emerald green sports car, and drove off.

The man grabbed at the girl's breasts and crotch and tried to remove her shirt while driving, the victim told police.

The girl managed to jump from the car in the 2200 block of Grand Avenue — about a block away from where she was abducted — and reported the incident to police, Assistant Chief Kip Pomeroy said.

The girl said she was walking home from a pool hall in the 1800 block of Cleveland Boulevard when she was abducted.

Police have put together a composite sketch of the suspect, described as a white male, 40 to 50 years old, about 5-feet 4-inches tall, heavy set and bald on the top of his head.

Persons with information about the abduction should call police at 876-9027.

Shakeup leaves clerk with no office

Most of Pontoon Beach Clerk Mary Rowden's duties have been removed

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

Now that most of the duties of the Pontoon Beach village clerk have been handed to newly appointed Comptroller Pam Beckley, the office in which she worked has become the comptroller's office.

Village Clerk Mary Rowden, an elected official, still keeps minutes of meetings of the Village Board of Trustees and oversees ordinances, but at the moment, she has no office in which to perform her duties.

She lost her office and most of her duties when the board made a series of changes last week. The changes came in the aftermath of the April 4 election, when a candidate Rowden had supported lost.

Pontoon Beach Mayor Glen Wilson verified Friday that Rowden currently lacks an office.

"She'll have an office," Wilson said. "It may be downstairs (in the basement of the Pontoon Beach Village Hall), but temporarily. It will be available to her on Monday, if she wants it."

Wilson said that changing the village clerk's office into the comptroller's office was indicated in an ordinance passed last Tuesday that redefined the duties of comptroller and city clerk.

According to the ordinance, Beckley, who is married to Pontoon Beach Patrolman Mark Beckley, receives all the clerk's duties, except for two.

The ordinance also created two part-time deputy comptroller positions, which were filled by former deputy clerk Pat Ervay and deputy clerk Pam Kaskeski.

Ervay resigned from the clerk's office several weeks ago. Kaskeski was her replacement.

After Kaskeski was appointed deputy comptroller, the deputy clerk's position was dissolved, according to the ordinance.

BIGGER AND BETTER

While inflation and baby-boom demand may have helped drive up the price of single-family homes over the past two decades, homeowners are also getting bigger and better houses for their money. Analysis of U.S. census data by the National Association of Home Builders shows that the average size of a new house was 1,645 sq. ft. in 1975. Only one in four of these homes was two stories or more. By 1995, the average size of a new single-family home had grown more than 25% to 2,095 sq. ft. and half were two-story homes. While less than half of new homes had central air conditioning in 1975, 86% of new homes had AC in 1995. During the same period, the percentage of new homes with 1½ baths rose from 20% to 48%.

Although home prices have increased over the years, this week's article lists some of the extra features that are included with this increase. Call me, Sandra, at 877-7653 or 451-7653, or page me at 782-8930 for complete guidance on purchasing a home. I'll review your list of preferred features, show you a wide selection of homes in the Multiple Listing Service, negotiate your offer, and oversee the home inspection. The office is conveniently located at 2120 Pontoon Road.

HINT: Another indication that amenities once considered to be luxuries are now standard in new single-family homes is that the percentage of two-car garages has risen from 53% in 1975 to 76% in 1995.

Election over, not forgotten

Flier prompts dispute among Pontoon board members

By Michelle Duell
Staff writer

Another flap has arisen among the Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees — this time over a statement on a flier promoting incumbent Trustees Bob Vincent, Bob Abel and new Trustee Lou Whitsell during the recent election.

Vincent, Abel and Whitsell were elected in the April 4 election, defeating incumbent candidate Mike Macek and candidates Scott Oney and Phillip Witt.

On the flier, which was posted at the voting polls April 4, Trustee Randy Presswood — a supporter of Macek — was accused of "falsifying an application to the Illinois Emergency Management Association to gain federal funding for Sand Road, which is east of Interstate 255 on Chain of Rocks Road."

"It (the application) included a fabricated cost," the flier said.

At the conclusion of the Tuesday meeting of the Village Board of Trustees, Presswood publicly denounced the flier, saying, "I did not falsify any documents at any time."

Trustee Lou Whitsell, in response to Presswood's statement, said that when he was comptroller, he had "turned over (information concerning the application) to attorneys for investigation."

"Our attorney is looking into it," Mayor Glen Wilson said.

After the meeting Presswood said he had filled out the application because Sand Road had been flooded and IEMA had offered a grant that would pay for repairs.

The flier also accused Presswood of receiving a $15,254 check from IEMA at his personal address in November and depositing it a month later in the village's general fund.

It also said "no flood damage has ever occurred on Sand Road."

A copy of the IEMA check showed that it was sent to the Village of Pontoon Beach "in care" of Presswood.

"It came to my address," Presswood said, "because the application required that I put my address on it. The application had three signatures by the mayor on it."

Presswood said he gave the check to then comptroller Whitsell, who put it in the general fund, "not a special fund, as he should have."

According to village records, the grant was never used. Though repairs to Sand Road were proposed by Macek and Whitsell at village board meetings, they were always tabled, according to records of meeting minutes.

"Work has never been approved by the board," Presswood said. "We still have the $15,000."

Lifeguard certification class offered

The Granite City Park District will offer a lifeguard certification course at the Wilson Park pool beginning May 12. The course will include CPR, first aid instruction and certification by a Red Cross water safety instructor. Class participants must be at least 15 years of age. The cost is $65 for district residents and $75 for non-residents, plus the cost of books. Registration is limited and being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis until the class is full. Register in person at the Wilson Park office, 2900 Benton Street.

Correction

The 10 1997 Women of Achievement will be honored at a noon luncheon May 12 at the Ritz-Carlton. The date of the luncheon was incorrectly printed in the April 9 issue of the Journal. The Journal regrets the error.

Edgar pushes school funding revisions

By Cheryl A. Moody
Staff writer

If Governor Jim Edgar has his way, all Illinois elementary and secondary students will eventually be afforded equal opportunities for quality education.

Edgar visited Whiteside School in Belleville last week, promoting a change in the way schools are funded by the state.

The current method of funding provides some school districts with $8,000 to $10,000 per student, while others receive considerably less. Whiteside, for example, spends $3,431 per student.

The minimum recommended level of funding is $4,225, according to the Ikenberry Commission, a blue-ribbon panel of business leaders and educators. Edgar would like to see all schools at least meet the minimum recommended level, giving students an equal opportunity for quality education.

Madison School Superintendent Gary Allison said he agrees that inequitable school funding is a problem. But he would like to see schools funded at a higher level than the recommended minimum.

"It's a shame that many of our prisons are more attractive and inviting than our public schools," Allison said.

The Madison School District spends about $6,200 per student. The state average is about $6,000 per student. Edgar recommends an increase in the state income tax to offset decreases in property taxes for school funding. "People don't feel they can pay more in property taxes," he said. "We have relied too much on property taxes."

Gov. Jim Edgar confers with Whiteside school officials.

Allison agrees that an income tax increase to offset property tax relief is "a good start" at a solution.

"I just don't think that it's fair that the resources available for public education are related to geographic location," Allison said of the current funding mechanism.

But he supports a plan to provide $1 billion in new school revenue in addition to $1 billion to offset property tax relief.

Allison listed several educational resources that could be obtained or improved with adequate funding.

including lower student/pupil ratios in primary classrooms; computers available in every classroom; up-to-date textbooks; and chemicals, microscopes and other enrichment materials that he said simply aren't affordable at the current funding level.

"In this day and age students have to know how to use computers," Edgar said. "They need to start learning at an early age. The workforce is driven by the use of computers. It is no longer a luxury, but a necessity."

The Madison School District has sample letters available for those who wish to use them.

Conferences set at GCHS

Spring parent-teacher conference at Granite City High School will be held April 21. Teachers will be available from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. that day for conferences.

POLICE BEAT

The following are among incidents reported recently to area police departments.

Arson

• Three Granite City teens have been charged with arson for allegedly setting a fire in a classroom at Granite City High School Feb. 25.

Mark S. Quigley, of the 2200 block of Miracle Avenue; Keith W. Donohue, of the 2500 block of East 23rd Street; and Michael D. Springs, of the 4700 block of Benning Street, all 17, were charged with arson in felony warrants.

Bond on the warrants is $10,000 each. All have been arrested.

The three allegedly set a fire in a trash can at the high school after being sent to clean a board in the room with a flammable liquid, according to a police report.

The fire spread and burned a desk in the classroom before one of the teens extinguished it, the report states.

Drugs

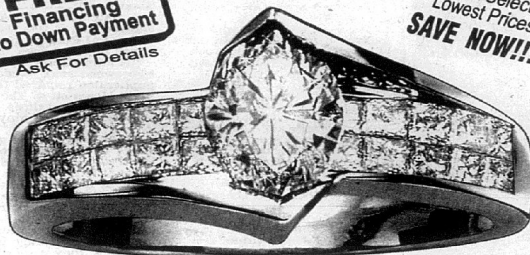

• Michael W. Grim, 27, of the 2100 block of Cleveland Boulevard, was arrested at 9:48 a.m. April 10 on a felony warrant charging him with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

No further information was available.

Commission felt that the sites proposed by Sprint and AT&T were not appropriate, commission chairman Brad Evenson said.

"If you vote yes on (the Sprint application), we will have a hard time denying any future applications in C-4 and C-5," Evenson told members before the vote. "This is going to basically be setting precedent."

Alderman Bob Cook responded that precedent had already been set when the two existing towers were allowed in commercial districts. He said that one of them, located near the Granite City Steel & Community Federal Credit Union at Pontoon and Maryville roads, can be seen from his house in the Partney Estates subdivision.

Several residents of the Lueders Park Estates subdivision, located about 400 feet from the site of the proposed Sprint tower, voiced opposition to the application, saying the tower would be an unsightly nuisance.

"I take exception to the placement of this tower near $70,000 homes when space is available near $300,000 homes," said Judine Lux, a real estate agent. "I'm in favor of anything to improve property values in town and against anything that devalues property. People are leaving this city because they don't feel city officials protect their property values. You're going to get a special use permit in this city for just about anything as long as you know someone who can push it through."

She commended the members of the Planning and Zoning Commission for their initial opposition to towers in commercial areas.

"I wish our aldermen had as much guts to vote against it as the Planning and Zoning Commission did," Lux said.

Alderman Kim Affolter said the City Council had the benefit of legal and expert advice before making a decision. She said that aldermen were told they would create a monopoly, against Federal Communications Commission regulations, if they prohibited towers in commercial zones after two had been approved.

Affolter said the members of the Planning and Zoning Commission were able to accommodate equipment from service providers who will move to town in the future.

"We could have conceivably had 12 towers placed all over the city," Affolter said. "The restrictions we adopted limited the number of places that would accommodate the towers and — with co-location — these may be the only two we will need."

Irv Slate, an attorney representing the owner of the property Sprint would lease for its tower, said the tower would not be a detriment to property values. He said it would be a mechanism for improved communication service in the community and that the use would be appropriate in a commercial district.

"This is not spot zoning," Slate said.

But area resident Joe Ribbing, a former member of the Planning and Zoning Commission, said it would not be a "typical" commercial use — as indicated by the need for a special use permit.

"We would like an assurance that every possible location has been considered for co-location to ensure the fewest number of towers," Ribbing said.

Alderman Foster Frederick, who represents the Lueders Park Estates subdivision, said other areas, such as "Hobo Jungle," were more appropriate for communication towers.

The commission voted 6-1 to recommend denying the Sprint permit and 4-2 against the AT&T application.

Jeff Iken of Sprint said he would wait and see what the City Council does with the matter later this month before deciding how to proceed.

Rowden receives $500 a month.

The changes made between the clerk's and comptroller's positions were made the same night that newly elected Trustee Lou Whitsell and incumbent Trustees Bob Abel and Bob Vincent were sworn in to their positions on the Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees.

Rowden said she had campaigned on behalf of incumbent trustee, Mike Macek, who

Vincent, Abel and Whitsell have accused Trustee Randy Presswood of falsifying documents to the Illinois Emergency Management Association, which issued a $15,240 check to the village to repair Sand

Red spring tulips were transformed into a magical white in a 4-inch April snowfall that turned highways into a slippery mess Thursday.

Warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico collided with a mass of freezing air and turned into a mini-snowstorm, meteorologist with the National Weather Service in St. Louis.

It was the heaviest April snowfall since 5 inches fell April 14, 1980, Bechtold said.

"It even snowed once on May 3, 1963, when 4 inches fell," he said.

The sudden spring snow canceled dozens of high school and college track meets, tennis matches, baseball and softball games.

The snow and 36-degree temperature also postponed the first afternoon home baseball game of the St. Louis Cardinals' season, against the Montreal Expos. It was the first time since April 17, 1983, that a Cardinals home game was snowed out.

City and state road crews scrambled to get snow removal trucks onto streets and highways in the fast-falling snow about 6 a.m. Thursday.

"The heavy snow was a big surprise," said operations engineer Kent Muskopf of the Illinois Department of Transportation. "The weather service predicted snowflakes. Suddenly, it turned into a heavy, wet snow with big flakes."

IDOT road crews and trucks spread salt on bridges and highway overpasses from Jersey and Madison counties to Randolph County, Muskopf said.

"The snow fell fast, and there were some accidents on the highways," he said.

While the temporary fall into the deep freeze wreaked havoc on area peach and apple orchards, it didn't have much of an ill effect on local vegetable growers.

Surprise: Blossoms turn white

Snow covers peach trees at Eckert's Orchard near Belleville. The hard freeze Wednesday night may have killed much of the area peach and apple crop.

"We can't complain," said Bob Keller of Keller Farms in Collinsville. "We've got sweet corn out and it probably won't sprout as much it should but that's about the worst of it."

Keller said that the storm system has caused problems by first dropping snow and then pulling rain into the area.

"We don't need the wetness right now — we want to plant," Keller said. "But that's farming."

Meanwhile, Wednesday night's hard freeze, the worst in 83 years, may have killed 40 percent to 90 percent of peach, apple and strawberry crops in many orchards in the area.

"The freeze may have wiped out 90 percent of our apple crop," said Gary Laird, manager of Eckert's Orchard near Grafton. "The loss is devastating; the worst I can remember."

The temperature fell to 25 degrees in St. Louis early Wednesday, breaking an 83-year-old record of 26 degrees set April 9, 1914.

At Eckert's in Grafton, the temperature plummeted to 14 degrees in lowland apple orchards Wednesday morning and 20 degrees on hillside orchards, covering apple buds with a layer of ice.

"Ice crystals were frozen solid on the apple buds," Laird said.

He had predicted a big harvest of 18,000 bushels of apples this fall at the 40-acre pick-your-own orchard.

"We hope there may be 2,000 to 3,000 bushels left to pick when we open our market this summer," he said. "We'll haul apples to Grafton from other orchards."

Schmalenberger named interim BAC president

In nearly 25 years of service at Belleville Area College, Larry Schmalenberger has worn many hats.

As of May 1, he will wear the college's top hat as interim president.

"People tend to think of me as just a numbers cruncher but I have touched on all aspects of higher education over the years," Schmalenberger of Mascoutah said. He has served as the college's vice president for administrative services and chief financial officer since 1986.

Since joining BAC in 1975, Schmalenberger has served as assistant dean, and later, dean of the General Studies and Community Services division; director of the Granite City Campus and provost/president of the Red Bud Campus.

Larry Schmalenberger

BAC's Board of Trustees appointed Schmalenberger as interim president at its March 19 meeting. BAC president Joseph Cipri has announced his resignation, effective April 30, to become executive director of the Illinois Community College Board.

"One of the big changes for me will be more travel. I will be going to Springfield monthly to represent the college on the Council of Presidents," said Schmalenberger.

As interim president, Schmalenberger will preside over ongoing plans for building additional instructional space at the Belleville and Red Bud campuses and for the installation of a MetroLink light-rail station at the Belleville Campus.

"I've played a key role in these projects. Those have previously been my responsibility," he said.

Construction on the new buildings is set to begin in spring 1998. The target date for completion is August 2000.

The 100,000-square-foot building at the Belleville Campus will house a new library and the academic Division of Business program, in addition to classrooms, student support services and other offices that will be relocated from the existing building. The 36,000-square-foot facility at the Red Bud Campus will contain additional library space, more instructional programs, and classrooms and support services, Schmalenberger said.

He said the college wants to get a $2.6 million state grant to renovate the existing Red Bud and Belleville buildings.

Also, there are plans under way to re-allocate existing space for academic programs at the Granite City campus.

A project that will be completed prior to the new buildings is the installation of a new telephone system at all three campuses.

O'Fallon wins mathematics competition

O'Fallon High School squeaked by Edwardsville to win the Division AA title in this year's Illinois Council of Teachers of Mathematics regional competition, continuing O'Fallon's reign in the top slot. The event was conducted recently on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Meanwhile, long-time winner Sparta High School continued its streak in the Division A portion of the competition. Sparta has won the Division A regional category for the past 15 years.

Division AA encompasses schools with more than 750 enrolled, while Division A includes schools with fewer than 750 enrolled.

The two teams, among 21 regional winners from across Illinois, will advance to the state competition at Illinois State University in Normal on April 26.

Throughout the state, more than 250 schools competed at the regional level for team and individual rankings. There were 15 schools competing at the SIUE event, said Paul Phillips, professor of mathematics and statistics at the SIUE.

Phillips said skills tested involved factoring, logarithms, inequalities, logical reasoning, and creative analysis used from algebra through calculus. Scoring was based on accuracy and speed.

May left pros on brink of big leagues

You'd think as a sportswriter of 40 years, I'd have few regrets. Yet, regarding sports in general and life in particular, one regret is not having met all the "great ones."

I'm not referring to Babe Ruth or sports heroes prior to my time but to the notables of the southwestern Illinois area I may have watched as a child but was too young to appreciate.

Such thoughts came to mind when I learned of the March 7 death of Fred "Fritz" May, who died of cancer at age 73 in O'Fallon.

A native of Belleville, Mr. May is notable for several reasons, including being called "the youngest player ever to leave Belleville to play minor league baseball" when he signed a contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers a day prior to his graduation from Cathedral High School in early June 1931.

Signed at age 17 by former St. Louis Cardinals third baseman-turned-Dodgers scout Andy High, May played the summer of '41 in the Alabama State League and '42 in the Class D Pennsylvania State Association.

He was invited to the spring training camp of (Class AAA) Montreal in 1943; but was called to military duty. May was a player who received similar athletic recognition as a basketball-baseball star at Elmhurst High.

At the time of signing May, a third baseman, High said: "I have been watching him for some time (at high school and American Legion games) and found him to have every attribute of a good player. I am confident he will make good."

A diminutive player at 5-foot-8, May proved High accurate when he hit 298 in 13 home runs, 19 doubles and six triples for 66 runs batted in for the Johnstown (Pa.) Johnnies.

By coincidence, in 1947 May played for another championship team, the Belleville Stars (with the uniform name "Johnnies Tavern"), who won the St. Clair County title in the final of a best-of-three series at the Belleville Athletic Field. May had one of four hits allowed by Al "Boss" Riddle, who suffered a 4-1 loss to the three-hit pitching of Lou Berger.

Even in the military, May gained prominence as an Army Air Corps gunner on a B-25 in the Mitchell Unit that set World War II records for bombing accuracy. During his 2-year, 4-month duty, May saw action in Italy, France and North Africa, flying in 64 missions.

A 45-year employee of the Belleville Stag Brewery (he retired as an officer), May and his wife of 40 years, Louise, had six children — sons Dan, Fred Jr., Tim and Tom and daughters Barb and Beth.

For Dan May, this summer marks the 50th anniversary of his dad's County League title contribution and also a 30th anniversary of Legion success for the younger May.

In 1967, Dan played the shortstop for the Belleville Hillgards Post 58 team that finished third in the state, and in '68 he teamed with second baseman Dennis Schutzenhofer for a double play combination that Sweep lands Cougars at top of conference

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

With a doubleheader sweep of Kentucky Wesleyan in its last outing on April 6, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball team opened a two-game lead over the University of Missouri at St. Louis in the South Division of the Great Lakes Valley Conference.

The Cougars are 8-2 in the GLVC and 20-9 overall. The two road wins, by scores of 4-3 and 4-1, gave SIUE six straight victories and the best win-loss percentage of the 12 teams in the conference.

A major reason for the quick start has been the Cougars' pitching. Contributions from the starters and late relievers have carried the squad through the early part of the season.

"Our pitching has been very good for the most part," said SIUE coach Gary Collins, "but we still need our second line pitchers, our middle relievers, to step up and do their job better than they have been doing."

Jason Guest, a sophomore from Nashville and the GLVC freshman of the year last season, is 6-1 on the year with seven saves. Both marks represent the second best totals in the conference. His save total

SIUE-Edwardsville to host Division II championships

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will serve as the host for the 1997 NCAA Division II Men's and Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships, which will be held May 22-24 at SIUE's Olympic Festival Stadium.

The three-day event will bring to SIUE more than 400 male and female athletes from Division II institutions nationwide. The national championships feature 21 men's events and 20 women's events, including the decathlon and the heptathlon.

This will be SIUE's first time hosting the outdoor championships. SIUE, a member of the Great Lakes Valley Conference, previously has hosted numerous Division II national championships in tennis and wrestling, as well as the 1990 Division II Cross Country Championships.

Last May in Riverside, Calif., Abilene (Texas) Christian swept both the men's and the women's outdoor titles, winning its third consecutive women's team crown while halting a seven-year streak by St. Augustine (N.C.) as men's team champion.

The field for this year's championship is already being formed. Athletes qualify by

Gateway officials eager to drop flag

By Patrick C. Heston

Gateway International Raceway is ahead of schedule in preparation for the 1997 racing season.

Having already sealed the 1.25-mile oval track, Reese Asphalt of Cahokia and Gleason Asphalt of Belleville are now in the process of laying the blacktop on the new Madison track.

A rain has nipped us up a good bit," said Gateway general manager Rod Wolter on Wednesday. "And now the cold weather has settled in. If we were coming out of a frost, we wouldn't be able to get the blacktop down. But, despite the weather being cold, the ground is still relatively warm because of the nice weather we have had. This permits us to go ahead with the asphalt.

"The road course and pit areas are already finished. We are now working on the oval. No one is allowed inside the oval anymore so that we can finish the project. When the blacktop is down, we will begin the process of ensuring that the track is properly cured so that our events will come off as scheduled."

The process is a meticulous one, and once the paving work is done, a layer of time will be laid over the track and vehicles towing pneumatic rollers will go over the surface 24 hours a day to "roll in" the surface and provide the necessary curing.

The operation is being overseen by Asphalt Technologies of Hialeah, Fla., a recognized expert in the field of racetrack paving. The company's president, Dag

Weather throws wrench into spring scheduling

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

It was interesting watching meteorologists scramble around Thursday night trying to come up with reasons why the Metro East was blanketed with somewhere in the neighborhood of 3-5 inches of snow.

None of these so-called professional weather watchers had predicted what was in store for area residents when they awoke Thursday morning.

While the wet snow put smiles on the faces of many youngsters, it prompted the opposite expression from area high school athletic directors.

Athletic directors are generally thick-skinned individuals who are used to Mother Nature wreaking havoc with their schedules.

During springtime, rain is their biggest nemesis. But the snowfall early Thursday morning left area athletic directors laughing in disbelief.

Bob Bone of Collinsville, Tim

Dougherty of Edwardsville and Jerry McKeahan of Granite City all said they could not remember a spring sport being canceled because of snow this late into April.

"The weather is just something you can never depend on or even worry about," Bone said. "You just have to basically react. Yeah, I was surprised. I thought it would be a few flakes and stop. I didn't think it would snow all morning."

Bone said Collinsville had to cancel a total of seven events that were scheduled.

Dougherty and assistant Kahi Shannon have to reschedule nine different sports because of the snow.

When Dougherty awoke Thursday morning it hadn't started snowing, but as he was winding up his morning run he knew that the area was about to be covered with a heavy accumulation.

"It wasn't a surprise," Dou-

Real Thing at Fenway all wrong

I have a friend who lives in Brooklyn.

That's New York, not Illinois.

When he was 12, the Dodgers left the city of homes and churches for the city of smog and cinema. It did irreparable damage to his psyche. He is now 35 years old. To this day, he thinks the Dodgers are simply on a very long road trip.

Actually, that's not true. He knows they're gone for good. And he also knows that when they left, they took something of him with them. Something of his childhood. Something of the purity and innocence of youth. Even something of the game of baseball left Brooklyn with the Dodgers, never to return.

That's why my friend has no use for the fans of Fenway Park in Boston, who are screaming to high heaven because three 20-foot high Coke bottles have been hoisted high above the renowned Green Monster as an advertising ploy.

Coke is willing to pay upwards of $1 million to advertise its trinity of soft drinks high against the night sky. Red Sox owners like the idea, believing it a necessity to compete with teams in big-market areas, which have the advantage of huge media deals and expensive luxury boxes.

"Anything that brings in that kind of revenue, I'm for," said Boston general manager Don Duquette. "It's a Classic Coke for a classic ballpark."

Lancers' Musso mowing down foes

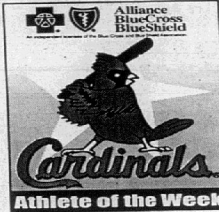

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

Brandon Musso is the big man on the Belleville East pitching staff — in more ways than one.

A 6-foot-3, 230-pound senior, Musso is the No. 1 starter for the Lancers, who took a 7-0 record into Saturday's doubleheader at Mount Vernon. In 21 innings, he is 4-0 with a 0.00 ERA. He has 29 strikeouts and four walks and has allowed 14 hits.

Last season, Musso was East's No. 3 hurler behind Jim Pecoraro (now at SIU-Carbondale) and Nathan Hodel (University of Illinois). He was 4-1 during the high school season, but went 11-3 for coach Dennis Schutzenhofer on the Fairview Heights American Legion team.

"With the schedule we had last year, I knew I would get a lot of work, even as the No. 3

Cardinals
Athlete of the Week

pitcher," said Musso, the Illinois Journal/Carroll Club Athlete of the Week. "I felt if we could get to the state tournament in high school, we could go again in legion."

"Being the No. 1 starter this year doesn't change my approach to the games. As far as being a leader, I've tried to step up a little more, but I'm basically doing the same things."

Musso opened the season with non-conference victories over Dupu and Westclin, then beat Southwestern Conference rival East St. Louis 9-1 on April 3.

On Tuesday, he scattered four hits over five innings in a 10-0 SWC victory over Collinsville.

"I tried to develop a change-up during the offseason," Musso said. "I went to Dave Jora's clinic for eight sessions and worked on my mechanics and that helped a lot. I've already had four strikeouts off the change-up. It will be a useful pitch down the road."

"I'm primarily a fastball pitcher. I usually like the high heat, but I try to mix it up. Against East St. Louis, I threw 80 percent curveballs."

(See MUSO, Page 4B)

Brandon Musso has a .429 batting average this season to go along with a 4-0 record and 0.00 ERA.

"It is disgusting," said Red Sox first baseman Mo Vaughn. Of course, no such eyesores would face a player or a fan from Brooklyn.

Brooklyn's Ebbetts Field was famous for, among other things, its Schaeffer Beer sign, which would light up the "h" for a hit and the "e" for an error. Talk about tacky. But ask any fan from Brooklyn and they'll tell you that they'd gladly have the sign light up the "e" each time a ballplayer spit chewing tobacco if they could just have the Dodgers back where they belong.

"What's the big deal," my friend wonders. "Would they rather have three Coke bottles or no Red Sox?"

Well, to be honest, they'd rather have the Red Sox and no Coke bottles.

But, in this day of multi-million dollar contracts and intense competition, that may no longer be a viable option.

Even the New York Yankees struck a deal with Adidas, netting $95 million over the next 10 years, to plaster the company's name and logo all over the House that Ruth built. The Sultan of Swat would probably turn over in his grave at the very thought of The Stadium of Shoes.

Perhaps now major league baseball will follow the lead of the college bowl games, which have turned to corporate sponsors to survive and have made the sponsor's name a prefix to their own. Will we now have Adidas Yankee Stadium or Coke Fenway Park? And what is next, The Toyota Ballpark at Arlington, the Mizner Brothers Busch Stadium?

I don't know. I hope not. But, as my friend puts it, "I'd rather the Dodgers played at Barbie and Ken Ebbetts Field than not in Brooklyn at all."

So, get over it, Fenway fans. You could have done a lot worse than Coke. The owners could have inked a contract with Schick and left a 50-foot razor blade hanging over your heads like a guillotine. At least you still have the Red Sox.

Plus, it could be loads of fun watching the "k" light up for a strikeout.

•Cougars

has already tied the team single-season mark set by Pete Delkus during the 1986 season.

Another sophomore hurler, Ryan Cox of Stewardson, is 4-1 on the year and is the team leader in strikeouts. He has fanned nearly 10 batters for every nine innings pitched.

Junior Rusty Sarnes, of Havana, leads the Cougars with a 2.66 earned run average, sixth best in the GLVC.

But SIUE has its offense cranking well.

Cleanup hitter Steve Davis, a senior first baseman from Florissant, Mo., sports an impressive .434 average and has banged out a team-high nine doubles on the year.

Another senior, leadoff hitter and shortstop Jeff Stephens, leads the conference with six triples and the Cougars with 60 total bases, and has raised his average to .390. Ryan Crawford is SIUE's top run producer, having already picked up 28 RBIs.

Collins is proud of his team's performance at the plate but is especially high on Davis.

"Steve has been very consistent, and for a man in the No. 4 slot, he is a very tough out," Collins said.

The Cougars also have two players with 13 stolen bases, the fifth best totals in the conference. Stephens and junior Mark Briggs have frustrated opposing pitchers all season.

As a team, SIUE is in the conference's top tier in both batting average and earned run average. The Cougars are hitting at a solid .326 clip and the pitchers are allowing 4.95 runs per nine innings.

The Cougars faced conference rival Wisconsin-Parkside (6-14, 2-9 GLVC) on Saturday and play host to St. Joseph's (Ind.) (19-10, 6-5 GLVC) today.

"This is a very busy time for Gateway," Wolter said. "But it is exciting as we look forward to getting the season started. Actually, it's not just Gateway, it's the entire area that is excited. We're laying asphalt and doing landscaping at the same time."

Barring any unforeseen problems, we should be ready by the 21st or 22nd of April, which is an entire month ahead of schedule."

The first 1997 Triple Crown Season event to be held on the track is the Motorola 300 PPG CART World Series/PPG Firestone Indy Lights, scheduled for May 22-24, an event to be carried live by ABC Sports.

Dragstrip events at the National Muscle Car Association on April 12-13 and the NHRA Sportsman Open on April 19-20 — were set to come off as scheduled.

Other dragstrip events are the Megabucks Weekend (July 18-20), the Car Craft Nationals (Aug. 9-10), The Monster Mopar Weekend (Sept. 6-9), East Ford & Muscle Mustangs (Sept. 20-21), the United Black Drag Racers Association (Sept. 27), the Fall Bracket Championship (Oct. 4-5) and the Megabucks Weekend II (Oct. 17-19).

The pavers are sharing space with the National Muscle Car Association's Flowmaster Association (Sept. 27), the Fastest Street Car Shootout series, which opened its 1997 season at Gateway this weekend. Both Saturday and today, more than 300 vintage "muscle" machines compete in nine classes.

The gates open at 9 a.m. today with the Megar's Custom Car Show and time trials starting at that time. Final eliminations begin at noon, and the Super Shock Wave Jet pick-

OPINION

THE VOICE BOX:

How do you think the Cardinals will do this season?

By SHIRLEY VALENCIA

Wesley Grim, Granite City
"I think if the pitching is solid, they will have a good year. They seem to have a good bench and good speed."

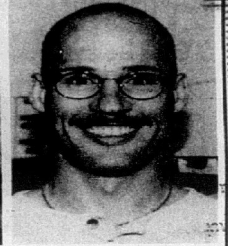

Traci Herra, Granite City
"Hopefully, they will win this year. They have a lot of real good players."

Dave Chrusciel, Granite City
"I hope they have a better season this year than last year."

Donna Pacheco, Granite City
"I hope they do well, but all I can say is, 'Go Cards!'"

Mike Dixon, Granite City
"Cardinals? Webster's dictionary has a Cardinal uniform next to the word choke! I hope they don't, but I'm not holding my breath."

Facts confuse: Did Memorial Day originate in Illinois?

(The following Opinion Shaper was written by Grover Brinkman of Columbia.)

A granite marker at the Woodlawn Cemetery in Carbondale states that Memorial Day was first celebrated here on April 26, 1866. Many Southern Illinois residents defend this claim. Yet there is a negative side to the coin. Statistics are hard to pin down.

There are several other spots in the nation that make the same claim. It seems to be an envious distinction. Three claimants seem to be most eligible. According to an article written by Herbert C. Moore, appearing in the National Republic on May 1, 1948, Memorial Day was first celebrated at Boalsburg, Pa., on May 30, 1864, presumably the first in the land.

On this day, 19-year-old Emma Hunter took flowers to a local cemetery to place them on the grave of her father, a colonel in the Army who had been killed at Gettysburg. By coincidence she met another woman, likewise decorating the grave of a loved one. At intervals in the year that followed, the two women discussed the possibility of a Memorial Day. Then, on May 30, 1865, a community service was held at the town's cemetery, and according to a newspaper clipping of that date, "not one grave was neglected."

This is the basis for the first Memorial Day, held in Pennsylvania.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Hello to my friends

TO THE EDITOR:
I am writing to inform my dear friends and relatives of my new address. Some of you are already aware that I now live at Colonial Care Center, at 3900 Stearns Ave., in Granite City. I am in Room 108-A. I am very happy here.

I enjoy talking with my friends here, getting my hair fixed at the beauty shop, doing activities, and of course, I still keep myself busy with sewing projects.

The food served here is terrific, and you know how much I like to eat! If you are tired of washing dishes, mopping, and cleaning, you should come here so you can have some fun!

Please drop by and visit me soon, I would love to see you! Take care and God Bless You!

Still another account of a "first" Memorial Day was published in the Times-Picayune of New Orleans on June 11, 1867. This article was reprinted in a brochure and given wide distribution by the Alabama State Department of Archives and History.

According to the brochure, the Ladies' Aid Society, which had served the cause of the Confederacy during the Civil War, became the Ladies' Memorial Association at the end of hostilities. Even before the war's end, this group of women, according to this newspaper clipping, started to decorate the graves of their soldiers in local cemeteries.

The account further relates that in the spring of 1866, Elizabeth Rutherford called a meeting of all interested women at the home of Mrs. John Tyler, where plans were formulated for a National Memorial Day. The date chosen was the day of Johnson's surrender.

Thus, the first observance of Memorial Day was made at Columbus, Ga., on April 26, 1866. A marker in one of the local cemeteries, at the grave of Mrs. Rutherford Ellis, has the following inscription: "In her patriotic heart sprang the thought of a first Memorial Day."

The third claimant for originating Memorial Day goes to Carbondale. This Southern Illinois university town is supported by old cemetery and church records and other statistical items found in local files. The first celebration was held at the Woodlawn cemetery on April 29, 1866.

The Carbondale observance apparently was the first in which servicemen, returned home, were actual participants. Its promotion was definitely in the hands of servicemen personnel, and the pattern that it set has endured throughout the nation for more than a century. The program included decoration of all military graves. According to an old cemetery record book, there were 219 men in line of march.

A bronze marker here marks the spot as the site of "America's First Observance of Memorial Day."

A monument on the Stone River battlefield near Murfreesboro, Tenn., erected by Union troops while they were still encamped there, still fighting, is said to be the first memorial erected by the dead soldiers of the Civil War. The claim, so far, has been unchallenged.

The beautifying of soldier dead, placing flowers on the graves, is not modern but ancient. Both savage and civilized peoples have been marking graves of the dead for centuries. However, the setting aside of a particular calendar day for the ceremony is less than a century old.

Memorial Day is keeping an unending bivouac over our dead. There is no finer gesture than this.

Our sponsorship enabled a local school to perform "Give My Regards to Broadway." As usual, our power lines hummed along.

Who could blame them? After all, it is a pretty catchy tune. The aforementioned sponsorship is just one of the ways Illinois Power supports educational enrichment in the communities we serve through our Teacher Grant Program. HOME & GARDEN

Patching your lawn is easier than you may think

There's a hole in your otherwise very acceptable, if not perfect, lawn. Maybe the dogs or kids dug a hole. Maybe you're changing the shape of a garden or flower bed. Or maybe a salt from sidewalk deicing caused the problem.

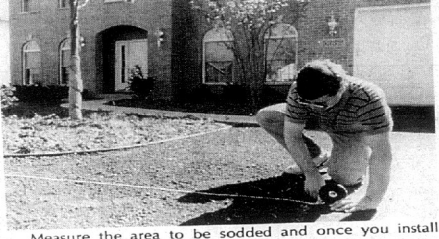

Whatever the cause of this unsightly problem, there's a fast, easy and certain solution that's often overlooked by many homeowners.

Whether it's called cultivated turf, turfgrass, turf, or just plain sod, this carpet-like grass can turn a hole in a lawn into a whole lot of lawn, with just four simple steps, according to the not-for-profit Turf Resource Center (TRC).

SOIL PREPARATION
An essential first step in the entire process of patching a lawn is proper soil preparation. This includes clearing away all the dead or near-dead grass and possibly squaring up the area, or creating straight lines on all of the sides you are repatching.

Once the area has been defined, maybe by going so far as to lay a hose on the ground to outline the repair area, you should loosen the soil by spading or rototilling larger areas. Rake the surface smooth, and remove any large clods, roots, weeds or other debris to achieve a level surface that maintains the original slope of the area.

A helpful tip from TRC is to make sure that when the final raking is in progress, the soil should be about an inch below any sidewalk or driveway surfaces as well as the area where the new sod will come into contact with the existing grass. When the new sod is installed following this advice, Measure the area to be sodded and once you install patches, water thoroughly to saturate.

it will be at the same height as the surrounding surfaces. Otherwise, the new sod may be too high or too low, creating problems that could have been easily avoided.

MEASURING AND BUYING SOD
Once the surface is prepared, the area should be carefully measured so that the correct amount of turfgrass sod can be purchased.

In most areas, sod is sold by the square foot or square yard, with a single roll measuring approximately one square yard, or nine square feet. Slabs or folded pieces of sod available in most areas will not be as large, but their dimensions will be uniform and the total amount of sod can be easily calculated at the turfgrass sod farm or retail garden nursery.

If the "ground under repair" is relatively small, say less than 10 square yards, you probably load the sod into the trunk of a larger car, however, if the trunk is small or the repair area large, you may have to make several trips or have the sod delivered.

Calling ahead to the farm or nursery to ensure you can obtain the quantity and type of sod you want is always recommended. If the sod will be delivered, advance time is even more important and you should expect to pay a separate delivery charge on very small quantities.

So that the new grass closely matches the existing lawn, it's a good idea to take a small piece of the existing grass to the sod farm or nursery center. However, attempting to match even known varieties of turfgrass breeding improvements that continue to take place almost every year.

TURF INSTALLATION
Because turfgrass sod is a living plant, TRC recommends that it be installed in 24 hours or less and watered within 30 minutes after installation, so having the soil fully prepared before the sod is purchased is very important.

Installation is simple, but some care is required to achieve a really great result. Install the first piece of sod on the outermost area of the repair, along a straight-line surface if possible. If the sod was rolled, be sure to back-roll the leading and trailing edges of the sod piece to make sure it will stay flat on the soil. Be careful not to pull or stretch the sod as you install it, or in an effort to force a fit. After being stretched, sod has a tendency to pull back to its original dimensions, which could ultimately result in gaps between pieces.

Using the first piece as a base, place all of the outer pieces tightly against the first by butting the edges and ends tightly together, but not overlapping. If the area is large enough, stagger the end seams in a brick-like pattern.

A sharp utility, hunting or butcher knife should be used to cut pieces to fit the proper dimension. This is most easily done by placing an oversized piece in place, folding it back to where you need to trim and then cutting the piece from the root-soil side. This method reduces ripping of the sod and leaves a nice straight finished edge.

WATER, WATER, WATER
With the sod firmly in place, the last step is the easiest yet perhaps the most important — watering.

You need to apply enough water to new sod so that the soil beneath the sod is thoroughly wet. As noted earlier, watering should be started within 30 minutes after installation.

An easy way to see if you've applied enough water is to gently lift a convenient corner of the new sod. If the base soil isn't thoroughly wet, keep watering. Water daily, or more often in extremely hot weather, for approximately two weeks or until the sod is firmly rooted. Again, gently lifting a corner after a few days will reveal how well the sod is rooting. Within a week, light tugging, without actually lifting the piece, will tell you the sod is rooted.

Turfgrass sod isn't just for whole lawns. It is also a convenient and simple way to patch small areas. Its major advantage over seeding is that it is virtually instant. Because it's instant, you know what the result will be and most important of all, you can enjoy your yard faster.

For additional information about turfgrass sod installation and other turf care tips, the Turf Resource Center offers a variety of complimentary brochures. Send requests to TRC, Dept. H1-4, 1855-A Hicks Road, Rolling Meadows, IL 60008.

Grubs destroy yards

Most everyone with a lawn or garden is familiar with the sight of flying Japanese beetles in the summer. These pesky insects cause millions of dollars in damage each year by feeding on the leaves of rose bushes, fruit trees and other plants. Although Japanese beetles are a nuisance, what's even worse is their offspring, the grub.

Each fall, these grub-eating larvae cause even more damage than their adult counterparts because they feed on the roots of grass, flowers and bulbs. Grubs can destroy an otherwise healthy lawn by preventing water from reaching the root system. The result of extensive damage is brown and patchy turf which, in some areas, can be pulled up like a carpet.

John Lucas, Senior Entomologist at AgriVivo Environmental Health says you can roll back the grass and can see the white C-shaped larvae.

So how can you get rid of grubs? Lucas recommends using a product labeled for grub control and offers these tips:

- The grub is the weakest link in the year-long life cycle of the Japanese beetle. For best results, make sure that application takes place in the fall when grubs are newly hatched and feeding, or in the spring before they emerge as adults.
- Measure the size of your lawn in square feet so that you can determine the amount of product needed for accurate control.
- Remember — "less is more" when using insecticides. Select a product that offers low damage rates of less than three pounds per 1,000 square feet.
- Always read and follow label instructions.
- Remove any accumulated thatch (plant litter) so the insecticide can reach the soil.
- Apply uniformly with a broadcast spreader to assure complete coverage. Be sure to calibrate your spreader.
- Thoroughly saturate the treated areas with water immediately following application for maximum effectiveness.
- As when using any chemical, wear gloves and protective clothing, and always remember to wash hands and materials thoroughly after handling.

High-performance Contour goes head-to-head with European foes

By Tom Strongman

I barreled across the undulating terrain of California's Death Valley recently in a Ford SVT Contour, an American car with a European personality.

It sticks to the road like chewing gum to the bottom of your shoe, and the voice of its sonorous V-6 charms gear-heads like music does a snake.

Ford's Special Vehicle Team (SVT) used the BMW 528i and Audi A4 as benchmarks for developing this limited-production Contour, which acquitted itself with an A-plus on some of the country's most challenging and fun driving roads.

The 1998 SVT Contour comes to market fully equipped with a base price of $22,900, which Ford says is $7,000 to $13,000 less than its European competitors. A moon roof and CD player are the only two options.

With SVT representative Tim Boyd sitting at my side, I drove 200 miles in less than four hours. Terrain ranged from 282 feet below sea level to 5,000 feet above. Roads varied from arrow-straight to curlicue. Up hills, down hills. Gravel, pot-holes. You name it, we sampled it.

I was impressed with the totality of its performance, the way it blends power with handling and comfort like no other American car.

How did this car come to be? SVT is a band of dedicated car folks whose mission is to produce a limited number of high-performance vehicles to satisfy serious driving enthusiasts. SVT has been in existence since 1992 and has produced two Mustang Cobras and the Lightning pickup truck.

The Contour, already quite a nicely balanced car, was the perfect choice for a new project. SVT boosted the horsepower, finessed its handling, added leather upholstery and clamped on bigger brakes capable of hauling the SVT Contour down from its 143-mph top speed. Sixty mph comes up in 7.9 seconds.

The 1998 Contour has been face-lifted with wrap-around headlights and a bigger grill. To this SVT added a lower front spoiler with fog lights, side rocker sill extensions and a new rear fascia.

Starting with the sweet-revving, 2.5-liter Duratec V-6, SVT bumped horsepower up to 195 by adding a larger throttle body, lighter flywheel, conical air filter, larger radiator, oil cooler and higher compression pistons. This 76-hp horsepower-per-liter output is the highest of any engine manufactured in North America, according to Ford.

A new cable mechanism smooths out gear shifts and rewards the driver with a solid feel on every shift.

Even though the power is impressive, I was stunned by the handling. Steering is light, direct and immediate. On twisting roads it dived through turns like it was reading my mind. The ride remained smooth even over the worst pavement.

Stopping is as much a component of performance as going fast, and to that end larger front brakes have been added. Pedal feel was excellent; ditto for directional stability. A four-channel anti-lock system is standard.

Inside, heavily bolstered seats—tastefully covered in dark blue, perforated leather—provide support for vigorous driving. The SVT profits from the regular Contour's redesigned rear seat that adds knee room, a problem in the original.

A thick, leather-wrapped steering wheel, also is part of the package.

The center console has larger cup holders, at last, plus a larger storage bin and center armrest. In keeping with SVT's form-follows-function philosophy, the trunk lid spoiler has been left off because it did not improve aerodynamics and would be there only for decoration.

In spite of how much fun the SVT is to drive, it is not perfect. The old-style radio with tiny buttons and confusing ergonomics has been retained. But as Boyd explained, SVT felt money was better spent on functional items that improve the vehicle's dynamics than a new radio.

At highway speeds I did notice some wind noise and a slight drumming from the back seat area. On certain surfaces the Goodyear G5-C tires tended to be noisy, but their grip is worth it.

SVT will build about 5,000 of these special Contours, and they are available only at 700 authorized SVT dealers. To find the dealer nearest you call 1-800-FORD-SVT.

The base price of the SVT Contour is $22,900. There was not a sticker price for the vehicle I drove. The basic warranty is for three years or 36,000 miles.

Point: Honing the Contour into a well-balanced, discreet road rocket was the charge given Ford's Special Vehicle Team. The result is a limited-production model that challenges the best from Europe in terms of over-the-road performance.

Counterpoint: The old-style radio is out of date, and there is some minor wind and road noise from the back seat. Given the nature of this car, however, most drivers will be entertained by the sweet singing V-6 and leave the radio off.

Future cars may feature fuel cells

By Rick Stoff

Electric cars still can't overcome the battery-range hurdle, and atomic cars were ruled out in the 1950s. But engineers still are trying to find something to bring better energy efficiency and less pollution than the internal-combustion engine.

The next likely candidate is said to be the gasoline-powered fuel cell.

Chrysler Corp. has unveiled a prototype mock-up of a car that would be propelled by electric motors like so many electric vehicles that have been built for decades. The electricity to turn those motors would come not from rechargeable, traditional batteries, but from a self-replenishing battery that continually produces electricity through the reaction of hydrogen and air.

Hydrogen fuel cells are nothing new, but they pose risks that make them rather undesirable for vehicular use. A car or truck would require very large amounts of hydrogen stored under high pressures in large, expensive tanks. Hydrogen is highly flammable and explosive, so a leak-and-spark or traffic accident could be highly damaging to the vehicle and its surrounding neighborhood.

Chrysler has proposed to solve this problem by building a fuel cell that would produce its own hydrogen, as needed, by extracting it from gasoline. Gasoline would be easier to purchase from current filling stations than hydrogen, of course, and would be less dangerous to carry.

But the equipment needed to convert gasoline to hydrogen to electricity is not at all simple.

Chrysler reported it may take 10 years for the technology to reach the road by way of consumer driveways. Its people figure it will take them two years to build a running test model.

Anyone who is dismayed by the plumbing and wiring under the hood of a current car will be thrilled to work on one of these. Just converting gasoline to hydrogen will take four steps.

First the gasoline has to be heated and vaporized. Then the vapor is reacted with air to produce some hydrogen plus some carbon monoxide. Since carbon monoxide is not good, a third chamber is needed to react the carbon monoxide with steam to produce more hydrogen. Step four is the introduction of more air and a catalyst to turn any leftover carbon monoxide into carbon dioxide, that is less noxious.

The complexity continues when the hydrogen reaches the fuel cell itself. Inside it the hydrogen and air pass through membranes and platinum-coated plates that produce electrons, and finally, electricity. Out the back of the whole thing is released water, the main emission of the unit.

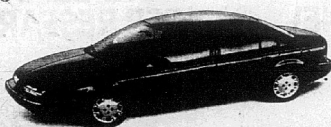

If this is the future, forget about sending the kids to college. Find a good technical school where they can learn auto repair. The money will be better.
